

CELEBRATING CENTENARIANS

Elmira Gandy Crapps, 102

“
I’ll just keep on inventing
my future as long as God allows.”

Elmira Gandy Crapps, Gandyville's oldest resident, celebrated her 102nd birthday in January. Family and friends gathered at Poplar Dell Baptist church (where she has been a member for over 75 years) for the birthday celebration. "It's a family event that we all really look forward to," says nephew Bill Gandy. "We did the exact same thing with her father, John O. Gandy, who lived to be 108 and the reason for the naming of our community, Gandyville."

Aunt Myra (as she is affectionately known throughout the community) is the third Gandy descendant to live to be over 100. In addition to her father, Aunt Myra's great uncle lived to be 108.

Read more about Aunt Myra: www.adlercentenarians.org.

March 2009

Sun	Mon	Tue	Wed	Thu	Fri	Sat
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
Daylight Savings Time Begins
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
		St. Patrick's Day
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31				