

CELEBRATING CENTENARIANS

Jack Borden, 101

Jack Borden is America's Outstanding Oldest Worker for 2009, as named by Experience Works.

Jack Borden always wanted to be a country lawyer, he tells, and the fulfillment of this goal has exceeded even his expectations. His 101st birthday celebration on August 5, 2009, included a national press conference held in his native Weatherford, Texas, announcing his title of America's Outstanding Oldest Worker this year by Experience Works (Experienceworks.org). Later, 250 members of the community -- including family, friends, clients and colleagues at law, plus the many civic organizations he has contributed his talents to over the years -- gathered to honor him.

"No gifts, please," Jack announced beforehand. "The girls can give me hugs, and there'll be someone to shake everyone's hand." Jack's bright blue eyes sparkle with merriment as he speaks. Here is a man whose life has been well lived, and who clearly enjoys being an inspiration and a role model to others.
